

Art & Poetry for Our Watershed

3 Rivers Wet Weather – RiverQuest – Arts Education Collaborative

We invite you to participate in River of Words an international program that enables teachers to help their students understand environmental science and express their learning and feelings through art and poetry. This cross-curricular approach not only meets PA Academic Standards, but also ignites passion for science, art and writing among students.

In a unique collaboration among area educators and environmental groups, we are offering:

- A two-day, professional development workshop designed by Carnegie Museum of Art and RiverQuest that combines art, writing and science in exploring our environment.
- An opportunity to respond to an RFP for K-8 art, language arts and science teachers who collaborate to deliver this cross-curricular approach in their classrooms.

Teachers Will Gain

- A rich understanding of how the artist, writer and scientist think and how to help students explore environmental science through art and poetry.
- Hands-on experience through a one-day workshop on RiverQuest's Discovery boat, well-known among area science teachers and students, and a one-day workshop in a specially designed art and literature program at Carnegie Museum of Art.
- Participants receive a total of 10 hours of Act 48 credit.

Dates and Locations

- Wednesday, April 2nd – Meet at the RiverQuest dock adjacent to the Carnegie Science Center to board the RiverQuest boat (please wear appropriate outdoor attire).
- Wednesday, April 9th – Meet at Carnegie Museum of Art

Times 9:00 a.m. – 3:00 p.m., both days

Cost $75 covers two-day workshop and includes a continental breakfast and lunch both days
